The wisdom of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. is still valuable to us today as we try to make the world a better place. In 1967, he gave a speech in which he was encouraging people to keep trying to move forward to make a better world. In that speech, he said:

"I'm concerned about a better world. I'm concerned about justice...And I say to you, I have also decided to stick with LOVE, for I know that love is ultimately the answer to mankind's problem...and I'm not talking about emotional bosh when I talk about love; I'm talking about a strong demanding love...and I say to myself that hate is too great a burden to bear.

When Dr. King speaks about sticking with love because hate is too great a burden to bear, what do you think he meant? Why is Hate a great burden? How can you as an individual make sure that you are not burdened ?

Worcester Historical Museum is proud to partner with the MLK Community Breakfast & Black History Month Committee in presenting this year's contest winners of this county wide competition.
